DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 22-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. These claims depend from "the method of claim 1." However, claim 1 is not a method claim, but rather a composition claim, and therefore the intended method is indefinite. The claims are furthermore indefinite because no method steps are recited.

Claims 22-24 are also rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a method, without setting forth any steps involved in the method, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

These claims cannot be further examined because it cannot be determined whether the error is in the class of invention or in the identification of the parent claim. However, it is noted that the disclosure cited in support of this new claim only covers styrene/butadiene copolymer, and does not disclose the range of 1,2 content for the other polymers specified in claim 23.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. Claims 1, 4-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kapuscinski et al. (US 5,374,364) for the reasons set forth in item 1 of the Office action mailed 3/17/2009.

Applicant's arguments filed 6/15/2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Reliance on Kapuscinski Example 1 is withdrawn; however, previously cited disclosure at col. 3 discloses polymers of isoprene, styrene/butadiene and styrene/isoprene. The fact that the reference discloses such materials as hydrogenated does not exclude them from the scope of the claims because, since hydrogenation processes do not typically achieve 100% hydrogenation, at least a non-zero amount of unhydrogenated diene monomer residue would be expected to remain in the final polymer. Contrary to applicants' assertion, the claims do not exclude polymers with at least some hydrogenated content, and the claims are silent regarding backbone unsaturation. Regarding applicants' argument directed to terminal functionalization, the reaction of Kapuscinski would be expected to result in at least a single occurrence of tail-end functionalization in view of decreased steric hindrance near the polymer terminus. The burden of proof is shifted to applicants to show otherwise.

Double Patenting

3. Claims 1, 4 and 6 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-4 of copending Application No. 11/900,686 for the reasons set forth in item 5 of the Office action mailed 2/25/2008.

4. Claims 1, 4 and 6 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-4 and 13-31 of Patent 7,462,677, for the reasons set forth in item 5 of the Office action mailed 2/25/2008. The original provisional rejection over 11/900,664 is no longer provisional because the application has matured into patent 7,462,677.

5. Claims 1, 4 and 6 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1, 16, 18 and 22 of copending Application No. 11/331,663 for the reason set forth in item 6 of the Office action mailed 2/25/2008.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

6. Claims 1, 3, 4, 6, 9, 10, 13 and 15 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 20-68 of Patent 7,186,845 for the reason set forth in item 7 of the Office action mailed 2/25/2008.

Applicant's arguments filed 6/15/2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants argue that the instant claims are distinguished over the reference claims because the functional group α is at the terminal end of the polymer. However, the reaction specified in the patented claims would be expected to result in at least a single occurrence of tail-end functionalization in view of decreased steric hindrance near the polymer terminus. The burden of proof is shifted to applicants to show otherwise.

7. Claims 2, 8, 12, 14 and 16-21 are allowed. Claim 11 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
